

Wednesday 11th June - Day 3

I paid a surprise visit to Croft Farm today to see how the children were getting on. I arrived just in time to have a full cooked breakfast and a chance to have a chat before activities began. All the children are really enjoying themselves and had slept very well last night after a "run around quiz".

We started the day by kitting out in our wet suits and heading off to the lake for a kayaking session. After a quick safety talk, we were quickly into the water and paddling our way around the lake. Once we had all mastered moving and turning the kayaks and general getting wet and falling in commenced. The children and adults all had great fun.

From kayaking we went straight onto stand up paddle boarding. The children were quickly on their feet and zooming around the lake. Mrs Hale got the award for the most impressive "face plant!"

After lunch, we went sailing for the afternoon.

I must say how impressed I was with how quickly the children got to grips with maneuvering the boat.

I left shortly after tea and the children had a bit of free time before their evening activity of "egg protection" with real eggs!

I had a wonderful day and the children were, as always, impeccably behaved.
